Ontario Government will pay Compensation for Work Study

Student Emergency Fundraiser at Casa Loma
Details on Page 9

About 200,000 Ontario students in co-operative education and work placement training programs will benefit immediately from the Ontario government's decision to pay for compensation coverage costs.

Labour Minister Bob Mackenzie announced last week that the Ontario government will pay the full costs of insurance under the Workers' Compensation Act to protect unpaid trainees in case of accident during work placement with an employer.

Mr. Mackenzie said the 200,000 unpaid trainees who will benefit include about 70,000 in university, college, hospital and adult training programs, 20,000 in Ontario's Futures program, 5,000 laid-off apprentices and some 45,000 others in a wide range of other training programs.

An estimated $1.5 million a year in new funding will be required to implement this decision, in addition to the $1.2 million annual cost of compensation coverage that is paid under existing training arrangements, the minister said. "The bottom line is student placements are secure and training is not jeopardized."

"We want to ensure that students will continue to be welcomed into Ontario workplaces," the minister said. "The funding decision confirms the high priority that the government places on training in the workplace."

Concern about trainee coverage across after the Workers' Compensation Board (WCB) issued a proposed policy suggesting that placement employers could be held responsible for the WCB coverage cost of trainees.

"Now that the government intends to pay for coverage costs, the WCB has withdrawn that proposal," Mr. Mackenzie said.

Two weeks ago, a news release from WCB said it is withdrawing its proposal and will proceed, in consultation with its stakeholders and government, to finalize a policy to implement the government's funding commitment.

"Traditionally, there has been excellent rapport between thousands of Ontario employers and educational institutions," the minister said. "This new funding decision is aimed at continuing the good relations and encouraging even greater co-operation in on-the-job training programs."

The number of trainees participating in work placement programs has risen sharply during the 1990s, as a consequence of economic restructuring. "The measures we are putting in place will encourage even greater access to training programs."

While details of the coverage are still being worked out in consultation with the WCB and the training community, placement employers, educational institutions and trainees should be reassured by the government's decision, the minister said.

Employers will also be protected against any civil litigation that might arise from an accident involving an unpaid trainee.

While these new measures apply to unpaid trainees, it should be noted that trainees who do receive pay from an employer are covered in case of accident by the ordinary rules of workers' compensation.

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

George Brown College
Mission Statement

Our Mission is to be a student-oriented, multicultural, highly diversified, innovative centre of learning in central Metropolitan Toronto, providing high quality education, training, research, development, and social services with integrity, professionalism and a sense of caring.

I feel that John Rankin, president of George Brown College does honestly believe this statement, but some of the faculty and staff of George Brown College does not. It is a sad statement to make and unfortunately it is true. According to many students with whom I am friends feel and some I know, that their teachers could not really care about what they learn but what they, the teachers, take home at the end of a pay period.

I as a student wish this were not so, and hopefully those reading would take this to heart. When you as a teacher and/or administrator decide to make a decision that affects the entirety of the student body, you should remember students keep you employed, and that is why you are here. If this is to be a pill to swallow maybe you should not be teaching or working at George Brown College.

This is a personal view from Bill Windrem, V.P. Communications and Editor of the "Dialog"

MUSINGS FROM A MATURE STUDENT

By Wanda Cousins

I'm told by various people that this time of year is undoubtedly the bleakest. Everyone gets the February blahs, and if you don't suffer from this winter syndrome, it is probably because you are an avid skier or just like winter a lot.

Students are feeling it too and it is not uncommon, as teachers relentlessly demand presentation after presentation or essay after essay, nor is it uncommon to have to make three or four presentations at one time. BUT it does not necessarily have to be that way.

Once a request for yet another project has been announced, the first thing to do is relax. No, I'm not kidding. Follow a few simple guidelines and you will have a much easier task of completing the project.

Choose a topic that you know something about and feel comfortable with. Set a specific and regular amount of time each day to do research and do it! Gather all necessary items together before you start, pens, pencils, paper, and possibly a ruler and graph paper for the planning of charts. Ask yourself the 5W's and H of good journalism and even write them down. Select material that answers those questions and begin. Write the rough copy and start to revise, omitting duplications, unwanted sentences. Most of all, check for spelling and grammatically correct sentences, paragraphs, make sure the transition between sentences is smooth and coherent. Edit your paper and type in double space, no typo's, margin correct, and don't forget to use proper format.

Your essay is done with three days to spare and you deserve a break. Go have a massage, go shopping or enjoy whatever it is you enjoy the most.

People who don't like to do things usually don't do them and in the end they hate themselves for it. Bye for now.

STUDENT LIFE

Congratulations to all the staff and students who sold and bought tickets and especially all those who came out to the Valentines Dance - We know have the funds so that our Student Emergency Fund can become operational in September '93. I'll have details of the "how's" and "what's" for applying to the fund in a later column.

The committee does have several individuals and groups to:

· Pam Cohen for the design of the "Lisa" poster and Niel McGillivray for the copy.

· Bill Windrem for the design of the tickets and his help in getting both tickets and posters printed, during the holidays, I might add.

· Rosalie Starkey and the Fashion students for the Fashion Show.

JOCELYN DANCE PRESIDENT, St. James S.A.C.

WHAT WILL GEORGE
BROWN BE LIKE

On Friday January 29th the Environmental Consultants Services reported to the College Community various master plans to choose from for the Campus Development. The plan will consist of major developments that are detailed below. The location of each program and division is yet to be determined. The entire redevelopment could take five to seven years and when finished will be a more modernized educational institution.

ECS (Environmental Consultants Services) has heard from various focus groups within the College to fully understand the needs that each department has, and has provided a basic framework that will enable the College to function the way a College in the 90's should.

The focus is on a Student Oriented College. ECS plans to relocate the front doors of St. James to a more visible location further West on King Street. The front lobby, basement and first floor will consist of a common one stop Student Services area, that will demonstrate that George Brown is committed to the students. There will also be lounges, seminar rooms, and more common areas for students to meet. ECS hopes to decrease the noise in the hall ways by switching to 1/2 size lockers in certain designated locker areas, as opposed to the lockers being in the corridors. ECS has also committed decreasing safety risks, by eliminating hidden corners, eliminating hidden niches, and by increasing visibility by improving the lighting.

Currently at St. James and Casa Loma proto-type classrooms are being developed to enhance the learning environment with modern technology. Based on the feedback from these classrooms, all of the classes in the College will be redeveloped.

The classrooms, shops, and labs will be developed to take advantage of new technology.

Faculty offices will be upgraded to better service the students, classrooms will consist of retractable walls to match the room size to class needs, and most importantly the mechanical systems will be upgraded. This means that ECS plans to improve and regulate the heating and cooling systems, and they hope to increase air movement to try and eliminate mechanical noises, and offensive odours.

PRIORITIES OF CAMPUS DEVELOPMENT

- 1) Consolidate Kensington into Casa Loma and St. James.
- 2) Mechanical system upgrade. Renovate existing mechanical systems at Casa Loma and St. James as required to meet modern standards and provide a comfortable learning environment.
- 3) Maximize benefit for monies spent. Improve College service, quality of space, and provide a modern teaching facility.

4) Balance between Campus Same standard of quality throughout the College

In order for the College to complete the Campus Development project more funding will be required. To date further funding projects include partnerships, other ministries, fundraising, special projects, grants from various ministries related to operating cost saving, and savings through reduced operating costs.

GEORGE BROWN COLLEGE HAS COMMITTED TO REVIEWING EACH STEP OF THE PROCESS WITH THE ENTIRE COLLEGE COMMUNITY.

If you have any questions, concerns or interest in the campus renewal project, please contact Jim Turner.

Bizarre Notes

ENTERTAINMENT NOTES

Well what an entertaining month it has been. I personally have reached levels of entertainment never before seen. There is going to be a lot of stuff coming up in the next while. Movies, concerts, fun stuff galore.

Make sure that you check out the movies in the lounges at the Casa Loma and St. James campuses. They are shown every Wednesday at noon at Casa Loma, and Tues & Thur at St. James. If you have any requests, please let us know. We are happy to oblige.

The pubs at St. James are turning into the real "party place" to be on Friday afternoons. Cold ones and lots of fun & dance combine to make an excellent time.

For all you country buff's, and I know you're out there, there is a new bar for you in town. The old Blue's and Cue's in Scarborough is now called "Silverado". This bar is all set to cater to all your urban cowboy needs. Are you excited Mario?

If there is anything that you feel that needs to be addressed in an entertainment vain, please drop me a line at either the Casa Loma or St. James SAC office. Can't wait for the Juno's!!!! Don't you just wish that Billy Ray could be nominated?

ALBUM TALK

I have had the pleasure of hearing two very good Canadian albums recently: The first one is the debut disk from Kitchner area band "The Grope Toads". This is a great first album from a promising new group. There is a really funky sound contained in all 15 tracks on the album that is reminiscent of the Red Hot Chili Peppers, yet the band has not jumped on the rock/funk bandwagon. Standout tracks include "Barricades", "BBQ's Revenge", and my personal favourite "Ambivalence". If you want to check out a great new band get their debut CD, it's worth it. (I know of a certain big "three floor" album store downtown that carries it.)

The second band is called Crimson Jimson. This is a group from Hamilton that has been in the bar circuit for a few years. They have just released a three song ep that has a really heavy sound.

There are a lot of Metallica wanna be bands, but Crimson Jimson seems to be a step above them. The music is fresh and mixes the heavy power riffs with the famous Seattle sound. I don't know if the tape is available in stores, but if you see it check it out, but remember it is really heavy.

MOVIE REVIEW - FALLING DOWN

Have you ever had one of those days where nothing seems to go right. Then something small happens like you stub your toe or bite your tongue, and this little action makes you want to lose it. You rant and rave, cause some wanton destruction, maybe kill a few people?

Well, maybe not. But I am sure that sometimes you get really angry and feel like going nuts.

Falling down is a movie about a man who does just that. Michael Douglas plays D-Fens, an unemployed defense worker who is estranged from his wife (played by Barbara Hershey) and his daughter.

This is a well made film about the crumbling of the American dream. It shows the frustration of the common man as his world crumbles around him. Although it seems that D-Fens is prone to go to extremes, it does at least allow us to feel somewhat akin to him.

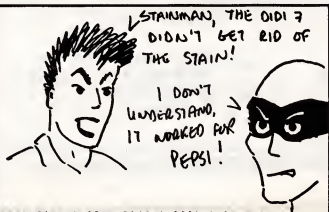

The movie follows a day that starts by him abandoning his car on a busy freeway. He starts out on a trek across L.A. to visit his daughter for her birthday. Along the way he leaves a path of violence and destruction. He is pursued by a cop (aptly played by Robert Duvall) who is on the last day before he retires.

I found Falling Down to be a well made, interesting film. It explores the aftermath of 12 years of Republican rule. It shows what our society is heading towards and the way people might start to react to it in increasingly violent means. I recommend this film wholeheartedly.

SEX WITH CARLO

NOTE TO READERS: The following articles contain some sexual content. Every effort has been made to keep the content humorous and tasteful, if you find sexual content offending, please do not read on.

SEXUAL ETIQUETTE

Whether you're about to begin an intimate encounter with that someone special in your life, or just that person that bought you that last drink, I'd like to pass along a few do's and don'ts. DO:

- * Get the persons name. It will save embarrassment if you ever see them again, plus it's always flattering when you call out their name in the heat of passion.

- * Get the persons number. This may be the best sex you've ever had, and you don't want to miss out on another opportunity.

- * Spend some time on foreplay. It will make your partner think that you really care about their desires. (whether you do or not, give it a shot anyway.)

Don't:

- * Call out the wrong persons name at the peak of ecstasy. This can have a very negative effect on the sexual drive of your partner, plus it can turn a very pleasurable moment into an explanation session.

- * Talk with your mouth full. Enough said, you figure it out.

- * Sing the lyrics to "Do me Baby" during oral sex. It tends to make your partner touchy.

- * Spit, fart, burp, pick your teeth, scratch your private areas, or smell your armpits in view of your partner, unless of course this turns you on. If that's the case, I don't want to know about it.

- * Say "I Love You" unless you mean it. Remember it possible to be in love for very short periods of time!

- * Kiss and Tell. Just don't get caught doing it.

A special don't to the few couples at Kensington, who have no where else to express their feelings except our Student Lounge. As entertaining as you are, let's knock it off love birds. George Brown does not offer Sex 101, and I've got better things to do then watch you couples suck face. (As I am writing this, I can see a couple going at it right now. I should charge admission.)

CARLO'S TOP 9 1/2 PICK-UP LINES:

10. "Is that a Madonna bra or are you just happy to see me?"

9. "Hey baby what's your sign?"

8. "Excuse me, but haven't I seen your picture on a magazine?"

7. "Hey baby your place or mine?"

6. "I'm a sailor, and I'd like to dock in your harbor"

5. "If you think I'm cute now, you should see me without my toupee"

4. "Is that an all over tan?"

3. "Would you like to be my guest at the Beer Burping competition? I'm a contestant"

2. "I'm not only the Hair Club President, I'm also a client"

1. "Hey honey, want to try your luck? Lets go back to my place and **** (SMACK) The sound of her hand across my face.) Well thanks for reading. Let me know what you think, and if any of this has worked for you. We have one paper left, so send me your questions about sex soon! I am always happy to reply. You can send any letters through SAC c/o Carlo Gambale, Kensington SAC. Don't to forget to practice safe sex, see your Health Dept. See you next month.

Varsity Athletics

Women's Basketball. Play-Off Bound!!

A sudden death play-off game is in store for our women's team; Seneca Scouts will be the opposition. According to coach Delas a few things must take place in order for the team to reach its goal. The Final Four. "Trudy Nofall must be healthy and fully recovered from an ankle injury and 100% mentally ready to play; scoring has to be even from the starters, and the rest of the team must stay focused and be ready when called upon. The team has the talent to rise to the top and compete with the best".

Let's cheer our team on to victory !!!!!

Men's Basketball. Tough Season !

This has been the most difficult season in the history of our basketball program. Every time you turned around you began to feel that this team was on the right track. Sorry, but they never got on track. Sure there were moments when we looked as good or better than our opponents. But as our league record indicates, we were never consistent enough to win a game. Nevertheless to those who finished the season THANKS for your hard work and dedication

Women's Volleyball. The Big Nickle !!

The women's season had many ups and downs, but when it was all said and done they still had smiles on their faces. The players would like to thank their coaches, Ollie Cavers and Suzanne Judd for their efforts and support through thick and thin. Captain Joanne Thompson feels the experience gained this past season can only make them a better team in the future.

Men's Volleyball. Percentage Points!!

By mere percentage points our men's team failed to qualify for the play-offs. This year's squad did not possess a lot of individual talent, but as a team they could play with anyone in their league. Coach Lotocky said "with the experience we gained from the past season and the addition of some new players, next year's could be very exciting".
Thanks for a good season guys.!

MARIO'S CORNER

A straight man's view on homosexuality

I'm not saying that I'm totally comfortable with homosexuality, but then again I'm not comfortable with many things. In the past year many things have happened that changed my opinion on "gays". The biggest factor would be that I've met and became friends with many gays throughout the year. This gave me a chance to get to know them and I found out that they are no different than anybody else I know. The second biggest factor was breaking up with a girl that I went out with for two years. That empty feeling made me realize that everybody needs somebody to love and not everybody can fall in love with the opposite sex. Before you start thinking that I have homosexual feeling's, stop because I don't... I LOVE WOMEN. I'm just as proud to be straight as a homosexual isto be gay. The one thing I'm not comfortable with is the idea of two men having sex, but then again as long as I don't have to see it who cares - I use the same theory with my parents having sex. I can probably get myself in trouble by talking about what the Bible has to say on the subject but I won't.

I'm trying to live by a new motto - "Live and Let Live". The way I see it, if people would live their own life, they won't have any time to bother other people about theirs.

HATE LITERATURE

I was deeply disturbed to find that some books at the Casa Loma Resource Centre have been defaced with supremacist/neo-Nazi stickers. The College finds this distribution of hate literature, to be offensive, intolerable and in violation of the College's policies on human rights.

We require that anyone involved in this or similar behaviour, cease immediately. Anyone found defacing College property will be subject to discipline in accordance with Race & Ethnic Relations Policy. In the interim, steps have been taken to:

1. Check books in the other campus libraries.
2. Remove books from the shelves until the offensive material can be removed and
3. begin examining books as they are checked out, returned and prior to shelving to ensure that no offensive material has been inserted or affixed.

George Brown College is committed to ensuring that students and staff have a discrimination and harassment free environment in which to learn and work. G.B.C. accepts this responsibility and will do what it must to attain this goal. It has to be a shared responsibility and therefore which students and staff can provide by being more tolerant, speaking out against incidents of harassment and discrimination and reporting such will also move us closer to our goal. Thank you for your cooperation.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

On February 16th, 1993 in the (St. James Campus) Lecture Hall, people representing many cultures and religions came to celebrate the Black History Month. A celebration of the achievements by Rosa Parks, the entertainment aspect of the event neglecting the important issues discussed by all those who participated. Taking into account the nature of TV-NEWS this action is somehow justified but I feel that events of this sort must

in memory

Arthur Ashe

Benjamin Carson, and Arthur Ashe were just some of the topics covered by the speakers. Christine Pointer conducted the properly timed musical performances by the three members of Justified, Heavenly Praise, and Tony Hall. That outflow of music helped to generate a mood for an immeasurable personal reflection.

Some may have even seen the coverage on CITY-NEWS covered by Anne Mroczkowski at approximately 6:27pm that Tuesday evening. The fifteen second coverage focused on be given time and exposure to fulfill the ever needed vision of unity.

This Black History Month Celebration brought back the sense that this is only the beginning. I am here to tell you that the dream is still alive and not that far away if through events such as this one we are able to learn, respect, and love one another. I hope that we will grasp ideas such as this and develop them into beautiful butterflies.
